The first step in the process is to identify the problem. This involves gathering information about the situation and the people involved. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to analyze it. This involves breaking the problem down into its component parts and determining the causes of the problem. The third step is to develop a plan of action. This involves determining the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring the progress. The fifth step is to evaluate the results. This involves determining whether the problem has been solved and whether the plan was effective.

Don't Sell NATURE Short!

As students and teachers learn to use resources and develop understanding, they should explore the many "natural" topics at their disposal. Using a variety of resources, but also using the power of their own imagination.

What do you want?

There's nothing like a good story to help you understand the world around you. It's a great way to learn about the world around you.
